

Java Lounge Chair

by Carlos Motta, 2014

An exceptionally comfortable piece, the Java chair is made of reclaimed peroba rosa laminates · alongside its dark-brown leather, button tacks adhere the cushion to the base, so a "java" quality is evoked. With a base made of iron capped in wood the piece is rustic, clean, and suitable from all angles. It well represents Carlos Motta's progression though a sophisticated yet laid-back attitude.

- Made of reclaimed peroba rosa wood and assembled with brass nails
- Oxidized iron legs
- Leather seat
