

Bola de Latão Lounge Armchair

by Lina Bo Bardi, 1951

The Bola de Latão chair features a striking design: each front leg is capped with a brass sphere at the top · the translation of its name from Portuguese · and soft leather wrapped around a tubular iron structure and stretched using ties. It was produced only as a limited run of six for Lina Bo Bardi's private Sao Paulo residence, the renowned Glass House. This authentic re-edition is authorized by the Lina Bo and P. M. Bardi Institute and comes with a certificate of authenticity.

- Base structure made of black iron
