Dualde Cornelsen

Dualde Cornelsen is the collaborative practice of architect Lucas Jimeno Dualde and designer Pali Xisto Cornelsen. Developed through a long-standing friendship and shared sensibility, the studio brings together perspectives shaped by Spain, Brazil, and the United States, moving fluidly between architecture, interiors, and collectible design.

Their work is grounded in material experimentation, tactile expression, and a close attention to form as both process and subject. Rather than treating furniture as static object, Dualde Cornelsen approaches each piece as a site of dialogue—between craft and architecture, structure and gesture, refinement and rawness. Their debut collection reflects a cross-cultural language that is at once contemporary and intimate, expanding the vocabulary of Brazilian design through a broader transatlantic exchange.
