MR7 Lounge Armchair

by Branco & Preto, 1950

The MR7 lounge armchair is distinguished by bold yet clean angular lines. Its arms, back and seat are upholstered and its its framing wooden structure extends to outline the piece's arms, a signature detail of the MR7.

Branco & Preto

The furniture company Branco & Preto was set up in 1952 by forward-thinking architects Miguel Forte, Jacob Ruchti, Plinio Groce, Roberta Aflalo, Carlos Millan and Che Y Hwa. In the 1940s, after graduating as architects from Mackenzie University, they sought furniture suitable for their practices; the group of friends pursued Aflalo's idea to open a store that sold modern designs.

Collectively they have produced some of Brazil's most significant furniture, developed as part of their individual architectural designs. The pieces are finished to the highest quality in Brazilian native woods and materials.?
